Join us at the Green Solutions Marketplace and Stage for the latest information about green technologies, environment-friendly products and creative solutions to help you reduce your impact on the local and global environments.

At the Marketplace, you can speak directly to 70 exhibitors who will be offering the latest information and most cutting edge technologies that can lighten your environmental footprint... and leave more money in your wallet. The Marketplace showcases everything from electric bikes and scooters to hybrid cars to solar heating to the latest news about local environmental projects.

Don't miss the Green Solutions Stage on Sunday, Feb 21, featuring a mix of art, food, science and technology.

11:30 am: Braden Homes will open the stage, talking about new technologies that are Revolutionizing the Eco-Build.

1:30 pm: Chef Jeff Crump, founder of Ontario's Slow Food Movement, co-author of Earth to Table: Seasonal Recipes from an Organic Farm and executive chef at Ancaster's Old Mill, will hold a Cooking Demonstration.

2:30 pm: The Discovery Channel's own Jay Ingram, host of the Daily Planet, takes to the Green Solutions Stage to talk about Cool Climate Science. Ingram is an award-winning communicator who has been delivering science news – radio and TV broadcasting and publishing – for more than 30 years.

4:00 pm: See the latest from local creative talents at the Rev Wear Fashion Show. Designers and artists experiment with salvaged, second-hand and found clothing to construct unique fashions. Based on the Revolution Wear slogan: Create Change & REuse Everything, Rev Wear designs are inspired by current social and environmental issues.

Clean Air Hamilton's Green Solutions Marketplace and Stage is free of charge.

The Marketplace and Stage is held in conjunction with Hamilton's Upwind Downwind Conference.
